

Setting Up Flash Drive

Locate the directory containing the zip folder downloaded from the Blodgett website.

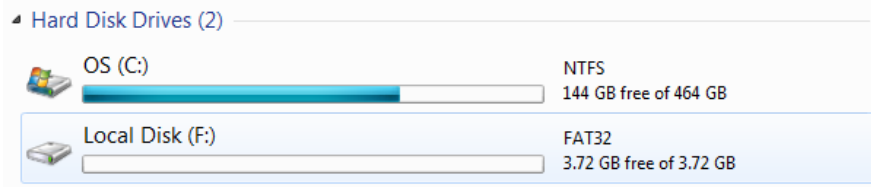

1. Right click the folder and select the extract all option.
 - a. The default destination will be the same directory the current oven folder is in, to have the file extract elsewhere change the path on the pop-up menu, otherwise select Extract.

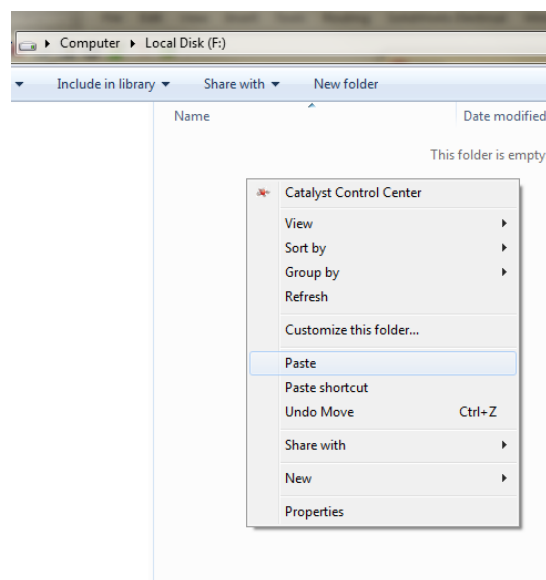

2. A new folder will appear in the directory named oven. Right click the folder and select copy.

3. Insert the flash drive intended for recipe upload and find the drive directory under my computer.
 - a. To avoid potential drive compatibility issues a SanDisk brand drive is recommended.
 - b. Not all PC's will recognize drives in the same manner the drive may register as a Local Disk or Removable Disk or something of similar nature depending on OS.

4. Open the drive directory
5. Copy the folder to the directory by right clicking the blank area in the folder and selecting Paste.

6. The folder “oven” should now be present on the main drive directory.
7. Once transfer is complete, remove the drive.
8. Refer to L-1156 for general market or L-1179 for chain account field update instructions.
